NEW MEXICAN STORY OF ALBUQUERQUE DISPUTE

The Albuquerque papers, the Morning Journal for the prosecution, and the Evening Herald for the defense, are trying in their columns the cases of J. M. Reynolds and Guy Rogers, president and vice president of the First National Bank of Albuquerque, who they report are under indictment by the grand jury of Navajo county, Arizona at Holbrook, in connection with the alleged relation between the Albuquerque bank and the Holbrook State Bank, which failed a year ago.

At the same time R. E. Putney and Jesse Hulitt, receivers for the Holbrook bank, have filed suit against the Albuquerque First National for $54,000, the action growing out of the relations between the Albuquerque and Holbrook banks. Reid, Hervey and Ide are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

The Albuquerque Herald claims that the whole matter has been stirred up by Carl Magee of the Morning Journal, and Mr. Putney, Mr. Magee in the Journal, intimates that he had Putney will bring suits for libel as a result of the specific charges in this regard, published in the Herald. Rogers of the bank, in a statement, mentions "persecution" of the bank while Magee in the Journal, alleges on the contrary that the bank has been "persecuted" Magee.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

New Year Parties

Here's to the days that have fled. Old friends, old wine, old memories. Drink to the days that are dead.

Here's to the New Year stretching ahead.

To the boys that are blithesome and gay.

May the joys of the old be the joys of the new.

Its sorrows fade gently away.

ANOTHER New Year comes to us with a volume all pure and unspotted, on which we will soon begin to write a history that will go on to be bound with the thousands of other records we call years. May 1922 bring us counterparts of the happiest days of the year just closing, and a heart for "any fate" that may we all learn the lesson of how "to labor and to wait."

Now for a jolly New Year's eve party that you may like to get up. Send out invitations for a "watch night" party or "remembrance" party, as one girl is going to call the ultimate little affair she is arranging for New Year's eve. If you can sketch, draw an hour-glass, a "Father Time" at a clock face with the hands at midnight or the last leaf on the calendar with "December 31" done in scarlet. Ask each one to tell of their happiest day in the year that is past and in what month it happened.

You may play cards, dance or "remembrances" just as suits you best. Have a cake with 12 candles surrounded by a wreath of holly and mistletoe and the favors symbolic of the year's special days; for instance, a calendar for January, a Cupid or heart for February, a kite for March, a tiny umbrella for April, a posy or bouquet of artificial flowers for May, or a wee May pole; a doll bride or a basket of roses for June, a freemarker for July, a golf set or picnic basket for August, bunch of grapes or a tiny wash tub for September, the latter signifying "Labor day."

Represent October with a wee Jack-o-lantern cut from an orange, a pumpkin or football for November, or a turkey, and for December a miniature Christmas tree. These articles could be procured in duplicate and be used to find partners, or they may be placed in a Jack Horner pie made to represent the face of a clock, red ribbons going to each place.

This is an occasion when the fortune nuts may be used, taking perfect English walnuts and removing the meats, inserting a narrow strip of paper bearing a pleasant prophecy for the coming season, and then gluing the shells closely together. These may be gilded and passed at the table. A wise hostess who knows her guests well will be clever in making these forecasts right.

Much merriment ensues when the girls ask the boys to dance, invite them to supper, and in general reverse the usual order of social conventions.

A Stitch in Time.

When the lining next size collar of your wrap begins to show signs of wear, get a few inches of wide silk military braid, match the color, and sew it neatly over the worn part. By pulling a thread at the edge the braid will be perfectly smooth and the garment will not appear patched.

Break colds with vapors

The favored treatment now is a salve rubbed on, that gives off penetrating, healing fumes.

Try the vaporizing treatment for colds—Vicks VapoRub.

At the first sign of a cold, apply Vicks over throat and chest. Rub well in. Lay on a flannel cloth. Apply again at night and arrange the bedclothes like a funnel, so that the vapors, released by the body heat, will be freely inhaled.

This is the treatment favored today by doctors and nurses for colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis, spasmodic croup, sore throat and, in modified form, for catarrh and asthma.

Vicks contains the old, time-tested remedies—Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, etc.—combined by special process, so that while they penetrate and stimulate the skin, the ingredients are also released as vapors by the body heat and are breathed right into the lungs.

Just rub it on and breathe in the vapors

BUCK JONES. DIRECTION WILLIAM FOX

"RIOT AND RANGER" RECALLED BY FILM

Probably no actor on the silver screen is better fitted to enact the role of a Texas Ranger than Chas. (Buck) Jones, the Fox star. His first picture since he was christened Charles—the name taking the place of "Buck"—is "Riding With Death," a Fox feature with a Texas Ranger known as "Dynamite" Steve Dorsey as its hero.

The exploits of "Dynamite" Steve are said to recall forcibly the old story of the Ranger who responded to a call for help in suppressing rioting in one of the smaller and wilder Texas communities. When he arrived, alone, the frightened law and order group threw up their hands in despair.

"Sure," responded the lone Ranger, serenely; "you've got only one riot haven't you?"

Intimates of Charles Jones, who knew him as "Buck" in the west, in the Philippines and in France, have declared that he "has the stuff in him" that is ascribed to the most daring and capable of Rangers.

In "Riding With Death," in the role of "Dynamite" Steve, he rides alone to run down a crooked county sheriff and his score or more of henchmen.

You'll get a lot of keen enjoyment out of "Riding With Death." It has action, thrills and romance. Come! Also two-reel Sunshine comedy and a Mutt and Jeff Cartoon at the Lyceum Saturday night, Dec. 31st. Try to get in. Ring out the Old Year and ring in the New at the Lyceum.
